35 U.S.C. § 102 Rejection

Claims 1-2, 4-12, 14-22 and 24-30 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. §102(e), as being anticipated by Shteyn et al., U.S. Patent Publication No. 2002/0116471 (“Shteyn”).

Claim 1, as amended, recites:

A method comprising receiving a search criteria for content, from a client wherein the search criteria is based on user preferences; searching media sources for the content and associated metadata in response to the search criteria;
parsing the metadata in real-time; seamlessly integrating the content and the parsed metadata into integrated content according to the search criteria such that the integrated content is received by the client without having the client to switch between media sources, wherein integrating of the content and the parsed metadata includes one or more of filtering of the content, labeling of the content, and prioritizing of the content;
providing the integrated content to the client.
(emphasis added)

Shteyn discloses “the parser and processor have access to a buffer to facilitate the creation of particular composites of the meta-information.” (paragraph 0031; emphasis provided) Shteyn further discloses the “renderer provides the user the option to effect a variety of actions. Via the processor, the user can control the content access schedule to access a particular segment of content material immediately, or at a scheduled time in the future.” (paragraph 0032)

In contrast, claim 1, in pertinent part, recites “seamlessly integrating the content and the parsed metadata into integrated content according to the search criteria such that the integrated content is received by the client without having the client to switch between media sources, wherein integrating of the content and the parsed metadata includes one or more of filtering of the content, labeling of the content, and prioritizing of the content . . . .” (claim 1; emphasis added) Shteyn does not disclose or reasonably suggest seamlessly integrating the content and the parsed metadata into integrated content such that the integrated content is received by the client without having the client to switch between media sources and integrating of the content and the parsed metadata includes one or more of filtering of the content, labeling of the content, and prioritizing of the content as recited by claim 1. Accordingly, Applicant respectfully requests the withdrawal of the rejection of claim 1 and its dependent claims.

Claims 11 and 21 contain limitations similar to those of claim 1. Accordingly, Applicant respectfully requests the withdrawal of the rejection of claims 11 and 21 and its dependent claims.

Conclusion

In light of the foregoing, reconsideration and allowance of the claims is hereby earnestly requested.
